

A perspective for Rural Development in Vietnam

Hiroshi Sensaki (Asian Development Youth forum, The University of Tokyo, Department of Economics,) hsensaki@adyf.org

This presentation was prepared for ADYF Hanoi-Japan Joint Video Workshop. The research is based on the field survey conducted by the author in Hai Duong Province, Vietnam in March 2005.

- Thanh Tan Village is struggling with low income under many restrictions.
- We propose two strategies to get higher income with their potential product “lychee.”
- Check the feasibility to get implication “absence of production corporative.” Joint Field Survey gave us students great experience.
